Progress that we've made this week:

       Docker file is good, so we have a webpage that can be displayed

       Working login and register page

       Account settings page

       Initial data in the database

Add the user story for adding a movie into database

For next week:

       Finish the home page

       Verify that all search features work and home page features

       Create functionality to add a movie to the database

       Continue stylizing the page and make sure it looks good
